

AN IMBECILE, OR WORSE.

Governor Waterman, of California, has pardoned out of the Penitentiary Fat Jake and C. H. Josselyn, two of the most brutal rape fiends ever convicted in California.

They dragged a married woman into a vacant lot in the night and outraged her so brutally that she died.

One was sentenced to fifty years and the other forty years hard labor in the State Penitentiary. They went there about five years ago, and are now free.

This is the crowning shame of Waterman's imbecile and vicious administration. If the man is not a rascal purchased with somebody's coin, he is by all odds the most bulky ass that ever was elected to any office in California. If he is not venal, then the Commissioners of Lunacy should examine his case and assign him to his proper place in some insane asylum, where he cannot by any possible means get out and run for office again.

A Mandamus Racket.

Harley B. Merse and George B. Merrick of Denver have arrived in Washington with a silver bar in a gripsack. They propose to present a silver bar, valued at $1,000 and demand that it be coined into silver. Upon refusal, they will apply for a writ of mandamus, and through the medium of the Supreme Court compel the Secretary of the Treasury to do what they desire. Both men claim to have a good cause, basing their argument on the claim that the demonetization of silver was an unconstitutional act.

Members of the Silver Committee say this move would only delay legitimate legislation and get the question into an inextricable mess. By throwing the matter into the Supreme Court, they claim, a decision could not be reached inside of five years. The people will settle the question long before that.

This same plan was talked of in this city several years ago. It was proposed to bring a case before Judge Field, and settle the whole question. Nearly all of our local orators talked on the question and after everybody talked a while, the proposition was never heard of again.

The Composite Dollar.

General Baden has written a letter to Frank Newlands suggesting a combination dollar. It is to be a two bit piece with 75 cents worth of gold in the center, the whole to be called a dollar. We would suggest to Gen. Baden that a more acceptable way would be to fasten the little gold piece on the edge of the quarter with a piece of copper wire so that it could be easily cut off with a pair of nippers in making change. This would give copper a chance too.

The Enterprise advances a queer reason for not having a Constitutional Convention and that is that although the people voted for a Convention and carried it by a clean majority, they did not know what they were voting about at the time and have experienced a change since. If such a plea should be advanced to show why some State officer who was elected last fall, should not take his seat it would be received with a shout of laughter that would roll from white Pine to Storey.

The parties who drew up the resolution for a Constitutional Convention, neglected to state specifically in the resolution, how the vote has to be counted, and so it is not counted. The Legislature can now pass a resolution designating how the vote is to be counted. The people have voted and they want their votes counted.

Bishop Monogue is "fornist" Parnell, and the opposition say it was flour and not lime that was cast into the eyes of the Irish leader.
